Rights and responsibilities

The swisstopo app is free of charge and can be obtained from the App Store for iOS devices or from the Google Play Store for Android devices. All functions of the app and online use of the maps are included. An area of 100 km² can be saved for offline use. With the annual subscription, the maps can be stored for unrestricted use and also used offline. The subscription can be used on up to three end devices. The right of use is limited to the legal subscription purchaser.

Copyright

All rights, in particular the publication, reproduction, editing and exploitation rights in analogue and digital form, remain with the Swiss Confederation.

The swisstopo app and the data and parts thereof may not be decompiled or altered in any form or reproduced, published or made available to third parties.

Liability

The swisstopo app has been created using state-of-the-art technology and carefully tested. However, there is no guarantee that this application will function without error in every respect, in all applications and combinations or on all end devices. Any liability for direct or indirect damage resulting from the correct or incorrect use of the swisstopo app is excluded, insofar as this is legally permissible.

Duration and termination of contract

The licence agreement may be terminated by either party at any time in writing. The Swiss Federal Office of Topography may terminate the licence agreement if the legal protection provisions are not complied with or there is a breach of contract. In such cases, the app and the data must be completely destroyed. The Swiss Federal Office of Topography has the right to have the complete destruction certified by a notary.

The licence agreement is considered to be terminated as soon as the app and the data have been deleted or otherwise destroyed.

Applicable law and place of jurisdiction

The licence agreement is subject to Swiss law.

The place of jurisdiction is Berne (Switzerland).
